DRAPER WANTS

D. & A. RUN BY

DAY STATE MEN

Governor Trappier sent the following message to the Legislature today, declaring that the Boston & Maine stock, now held by the New Haven, should be controlled by a Bay State corporation.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

The existing situation in regard to some of the great railroad companies which are serving the Commonwealth of Massachusetts seems to me to be unsatisfactory. It is not necessary for me to state in detail the events which have led up to this situation or to attempt any characterization of them. It is the condition which exists which needs remedying.

At the present time there is a large amount of stock in the Boston & Maine railroad which is generally owned by the citizens of the Commonwealth or by the citizens of the Commonwealth and other States. This stock is in the hands of a few large corporations, and the management of the railroad is in the hands of a few large corporations.

It is my belief that the management of the railroad should be in the hands of the people of the Commonwealth, and that the stock should be owned by the people of the Commonwealth.

It is my belief that the management of the railroad should be in the hands of the people of the Commonwealth, and that the stock should be owned by the people of the Commonwealth.

It is my belief that the management of the railroad should be in the hands of the people of the Commonwealth, and that the stock should be owned by the people of the Commonwealth.

Holders of reserved seats in the grand stand were in no hurry to get in the grounds, as the vast grand stand was empty long after the bleachers were filled.

The Red Sox arrived in town early today from Washington. After breakfast they strolled to the grounds and spent the morning in the clubhouse under the grand stand. Manager Fred Lunde took out the new white uniforms, and all hands tried on their spurs and looked in the glass. They wanted to look pretty on the opening day.

Plunk Expected to Pitch.

"Sure, but it's odd this way," explained Manager Conde Mack. "I don't like to have my team play half in the sun and half in the shade. It can't be helped. I expect Eddie Plunk to pitch this afternoon, and I hope he will be able to force the opening game on the Sox the same as he did on the opening game in our town last night."
